OVERVIEW

This year’s Child Abuse Prevention (CAP) Month theme is “Building Together: Prevention in Partnership”. The 2023 campaign uses a building theme to emphasize how prevention work builds stronger, healthier families.

- Wear Blue Day is Friday, March 31. We urge you to share photos using #WearBlueDay2023 and #BuildingTogether on social media.
- PCA America is hosting Digital Advocacy Day on April 19. Use this opportunity to reach out to legislators about the important work you are doing.

Whatever you plan, we are here to support you. KCSL has put together this toolkit of resources to help. We DO NOT encourage events that use items to represent the number of abuse/neglect victims. We want to educate the public on the importance of preventing child abuse.

KCSL resources included in this toolkit:

PROCLAMATION TEMPLATES (city and county)
- Fill in the county and county commissioner name.
- City proclamations also need the name of the city and mayor.

TALKING POINTS
- This contains brief information that you can use to talk to anyone stressing the importance of child abuse prevention and defining various prevention programs.
- If you need assistance finding addresses for the state legislators in your area, contact Kim Osborne kosborne@kcsl.org.

CALENDAR
- Feel free to use this in any way you deem appropriate. For a variation specific to your region, contact Kim Osborne kosborne@kcsl.org.

MEDIA MATERIALS
- Tips for working with the media, general directions for drafting and submitting a press release and letter to the editor are included. These have been composed by KCSL’s communications manager.
- You may use the Letter to the Editor template as is or pieces of it. We try to reach all the major newspapers across the state. Contact Pam Noble p noble@kcsl.org with the newspapers you will be submitting letters as well as the signee of the letter.
- A press release sample is included. It contains some general information about CAP Month and Wear Blue Day.
MARKETING MATERIALS
- A Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) is included. The Pinwheel and Pinwheels for Prevention® are trademarked to PCA America and must be used to their standards. Fill out and return to Kim Osborne kosborne@kcsl.org. Pinwheels will not be shipped until receipt.
- A Wear Blue Day flyer is included to print, email, etc.
- Make Your Own Pinwheel craft project can be used for your Pinwheels for Prevention® activities.
- A printable pinwheel coloring sheet is included. Coloring contests make great photo opportunities.
- Two pinwheel “cut-outs” are available. These can be used to honor children at an event either as a giveaway or small fundraiser. For example, we have offered event participants the chance to purchase them for $1 each to display publicly at our offices for the month.

SOCIAL MEDIA
- We are using the hashtag #BuildingTogether this year to generate a discussion about the importance of prevention programs and positive childhood outcomes.
- Share your photos and talk about #BuildingTogether this April.

COMMUNITY RESOURCE LIBRARY (CRL)
- Use the CRL form to order pinwheels ($1 each); pinwheel pins ($2.50 each); CAP Month bookmarks (English and Spanish); or any of our other materials. These materials are available for any organization.
- Plan for at least 2 weeks for the order to be filled and shipped. We receive several orders in late March and early April.
- If ordering pinwheels, pins or yard signs, include the payment with your order form. Checks should be made out to Kansas Children’s Service League noting that the money is for “CAP items.”
- Send all CRL orders to Kim Osborne by mail, 1365 N Custer, Wichita, KS 67203; fax, 316-943-9995; or email, kosborne@kcsl.org.
- The CAP Month bookmark is included in the Marketing Materials section. But free printed bookmarks are available to order using the CRL form.

April is your month to show off your programs. We draw the spotlight to prevention programs and the need to continue to strengthen families and communities.

CAP Month Theme & Main Messages

• The theme of the April 2023 Child Abuse Prevention (CAP) Month is “Building Together: Prevention in Partnership”.

• Throughout CAP Month, PCA America and KCSL, affiliates and stakeholders are using the metaphor of building blocks and construction to reinforce the concept that prevention cannot and does not happen alone. Instead, communities must build positive futures together in partnership.
  → Each day is an opportunity to build the foundation for our future. We all have a role to play as healthy partners in our communities.
  → Building healthy communities takes work. We all have a responsibility to ensure children have positive experiences, and help families have the resources they need, when they need them.
  → You can’t build strong communities on faulty foundations. Everyone benefits when we focus on addressing underlying causes that lead to health and social inequities.
  → Sometimes, building for the future means deconstructing the past. Proactively addressing inequity and injustice allows us to support safe, stable, and nurturing environments.
  → Policies and programs that put families first build all of us up during uncertain, stressful times. Working in partnership can allow us to relieve some of the overload experienced by parents and caregivers.
  → Positive childhood experiences build healthy families and strong communities.
  → Childhood lasts a lifetime. Learn more at preventchildabuse.org/building-together-2023.

Prevention in Partnership

• The ripple effects of the pandemic have permanently changed the social, cultural, and economic landscape of the United States. We are still adapting to and understanding these changes and their repercussions for child abuse and neglect prevention.

• The risk to our nation’s children for experiencing child abuse and neglect in times of extreme stress and uncertainty is quite high. Parents and caregivers face stressors like loss of employment, loss of income due to lack of paid leave, school and business closings, ongoing health concerns, uncertain child care and homeschool arrangements, food insecurity, and more.

• Challenging life circumstances can overload and overburden parents and caregivers. Just like how a vehicle burdened with too much weight may be unable to move forward, overburdened parents and caregivers may be unable to provide the necessary care and support to their children.

• Community support and partnerships can help lighten the burden on families.

• Another way is to support expanding family-friendly policies, like paid sick and family leave, to help reduce stress on our parents and caregivers.

• You can help plant a pinwheel garden in your community – a visual reminder of the world we want for all children to grow up happy, healthy, and prepared to succeed. Visit https://pinwheels.preventchildabuse.org to plant your pinwheel, which is a direct contribution to our local chapter and community.

• To report a concern:
  → Call 911 if a child is in immediate danger
  → Call Kansas Protection Report Center 1-800-922-5330

• For questions about child abuse prevention:
  → Call 1-800-CHILDREN or visit 1800childrenks.org.

MEDIA MATERIALS

🌟 Tips for Working with the Media
🌟 Letter to the Editor (template)
🌟 Press Release | Wear Blue Day (sample)
COMPOSE YOUR STORY
You don’t have to be a published writer to develop a story that will interest the media. But before you contact the media, you should compose your thoughts about why your pitch is important, why it will make news.

- Is your effort the first of its kind in your community?
- Do readers want to know that there is someone in their town acting as part of a larger movement to end child abuse and neglect? —and can others join you?
- Is there a special volunteer (perhaps a local student or club member) who is working with you, whose story would inspire others?
- Is there a family that is willing to share their story and how your program has helped them become successful?

Find your story, and the rest is easy.

CREATE A MEDIA LIST
Comb your local media’s websites, or call them directly to find out who you should talk to about your story. You can usually find contact information for the exact person you need to reach. For instance, if you want to have your story appear in the local newspaper, find out which reporter or editor covers “metro,” “news” or “lifestyle” and contact them directly.

You might want to talk live on a local television or radio’s public affairs show—visit their website and find out exactly who is in charge of that show. Oftentimes opportunities are scheduled weeks in advance, so contact producers now to schedule interviews.

Make sure you include community newsletters and school papers on your list. Once you have your media list, you’re half-way there!

DRAFT PRESS RELEASE OR LETTER TO THE EDITOR
This document tells your story. Use the story you’ve composed, and put it on paper.

- Keep the release to no more than two pages—use the CAP month template to help you. If you write a letter to the editor, make sure you respect word count guidelines.
- Use quotes from people involved with your event/program.
- Give exact dates, times, locations and contact information.
- Make sure you provide your own contact information so the media can call you for interviews or clarification.
- Ask a friend or co-worker to proofread your document.

CONTACT THE PRESS
Several weeks prior to your event or in advance of the beginning of April, send your press release to your media list by email. When emailing a press release, copy the text and paste it into the body of your email. Most reporters will not open emails that have files attached.

For day-of-event coverage, you may consider using a media alert format in addition to the press release. This document should be sent two to seven days prior to your event.

If available, you will also want to post your release on your website. If you utilize social media sites, you can post about your event and direct users to your press release.
FOLLOW UP
Follow up with each contact by phone to confirm receipt, and while you have their ear, ask them if they have the time for you to pitch your story idea. Ask them if they think your story will be of interest to them, or if they have other suggestions. Most reporters are happy to talk to you if you are professional and respect their deadlines. If they are on deadline, ask them if you can call them back at a more convenient time.

INTERVIEWS
Be prepared! Make sure you bring to an interview: statistics, important dates and times, and any other information you want to share with the public. Always respect reporters’ deadlines. Know your message and stay on it! Talking to the media should be an expanded version of your “mission speech,” that two-minute spiel you can be awakened from a dead sleep and spit out. Rehearse this if needed. Write down talking points before you do an interview. It’s your story and if you want to control it you need to be the impeccable expert. Also, be prepared to answer:

- Why are you involved with this effort?
- What does your organization do?
- Dates, times, locations, specifics for your event.
- How can people get involved?
- What do you want the public to know about child abuse prevention and efforts to keep children safe and families strong?
- Why it should be important to readers/viewers to become part of this effort.

Provide copies of invitations, press release and any other materials with further details about your event. The reporter may refer to these after you leave.

THANKING REPORTERS
After your story runs, contact the reporter and thank them for their time and for sharing your message with the public. A simple handwritten note card or an email is a very nice gesture.

SHARE YOUR SUCCESS
KCSL would love to post your media coverage or share it with other interested volunteers. Send copies or links to Kim Osborne, kosborne@kcsl.org. You can also send copies to special vendors or guests who attended your event to let them know they were part of something newsworthy.
April 2023

Your recent coverage of COVID-19 [OR OTHER APPLICABLE STORY IN YOUR LOCAL NEWSPAPER] reinforces that we all share a responsibility for the well-being of children and their families in [CITY]. And since April is National Child Abuse Prevention Month, it’s the perfect time to help people understand the importance of helping families and their community thrive.

All parents want to provide and nurture their child in a positive, healthy environment, but sometimes they need a little extra support along the way. That’s why I encourage everyone to engage parents proactively in their community and offer your support—whether it’s by making a meal for the family or reading to a child. For more suggestions, visit [website].

Collectively, these small steps will help create better, brighter futures for children and families in [CITY].

Sincerely,

[DETAILS OF ANY CAP MONTH EVENTS/DATES/TIME/SPECIAL GUESTS]

According to KCSL, there are many additional ways that people can get involved in child abuse prevention. Some suggestions include planting a pinwheel garden to raise awareness of prevention programs that help families cope with stress and trauma; reaching out to parents in your life to cultivate relationships, connections and environments that help every child thrive; or advocating for family-friendly workplace policies like paid leave. All of these actions help grow a better tomorrow for all children.

MAKING YOUR OWN PINWHEEL

Here’s a craft project that will allow children a chance to participate in your community’s Pinwheels for Prevention activities. This activity can be used in schools, daycare centers, after-school programs, church groups, etc.

Materials
• a push pin
• a square piece of construction paper (about 8.5” x 8.5”)
• a sharpened pencil with eraser
• scissors

Procedure
1. Lay the square paper flat on a table and draw a line diagonally from each corner to the opposite corner.

2. Mark the center of the square where the two lines cross and punch a small hole through it with the pencil tip.

3. Next, cut along each line stopping about an inch from the hole in the center of the square.

4. Take the pin and punch a hole in the top left corner of each of the four flaps. (No two holes should be next to each other.)

5. Pick-up a flap at a punched corner and carefully curve it over toward the center hole, securing it with the pin.

6. Repeat this for the other flaps.

7. When all four flaps are held by the pin, carefully lift the paper without letting the flaps unfurl.

8. Lay the pencil flat on a table and carefully push the point of the push pin into the side of the eraser.

9. Now your pinwheel is complete and ready to go. Pick-up the pinwheel near the pencil point and let it catch the wind.

Strengthening Families and Communities

All children should be raised in healthy and nurturing homes, free from abuse and neglect.

The Strengthening Families Approach, developed by the Center for the Study of Social Policy, promotes Five Protective Factors that shift the focus of prevention efforts from risks and deficits to strengths and resiliency.

By employing strategies that increase protective factors, all families will be better equipped to deal with stress and diminish factors that place them at risk for abuse and neglect.
