LETTER FROM THE CEO & BOARD CHAIR

Gail Cozadd
CEO

Timothy A. Shultz
Board Chair

Dear Friends,

Family is the place where children learn their values, beliefs and ideals. These values, beliefs and ideals can be a vehicle to create change—often transformational change for a family and for generations to come. As human beings, we have a tendency to repeat the past, but that doesn't mean we cannot change our future. We know parents want to create a better life and world for their children. They want to lift their children up and ensure they can reach greater heights. Ultimately, parents and caregivers are critical in developing children as individuals, and as a result they can help shape our communities and our society as a whole.

At Kansas Children's Service League (KCSL), we recognize the need to support parents and caregivers as they navigate uncharted water and begin the intentional process of paddling

“There is no doubt that it is around the family and the home that all the greatest virtues... are created, strengthened and maintained.” -Winston Churchill in a positive direction to improve the lives of their children. We help create, repair and restore healthy parent-child relationships. We recognize those relationships shape the expectations children take with them into society as friends, significant others and employers. As we continue shaping our future communities, the protective factors framework provides us a compass to ensure parents are successful.

- Parental Resilience: Providing tools for parents to manage stress including problem solving and knowing how to seek help when necessary.
- Social Connections: Ensuring all parents have a support network and helping parents who are isolated develop a local support network of friends and neighbors.
- Concrete Supports in Times of Need: Connecting parents to resources to meet the basic needs of their children like food, housing, clothing and health care.

- Knowledge of Parenting and Child Development: Educating about child development and appropriate expectations for children at every age.
- Social and Emotional Competence of Children: Identifying challenging behaviors or developmental delays early before behaviors become challenging in order to minimize stress on the family as a whole.

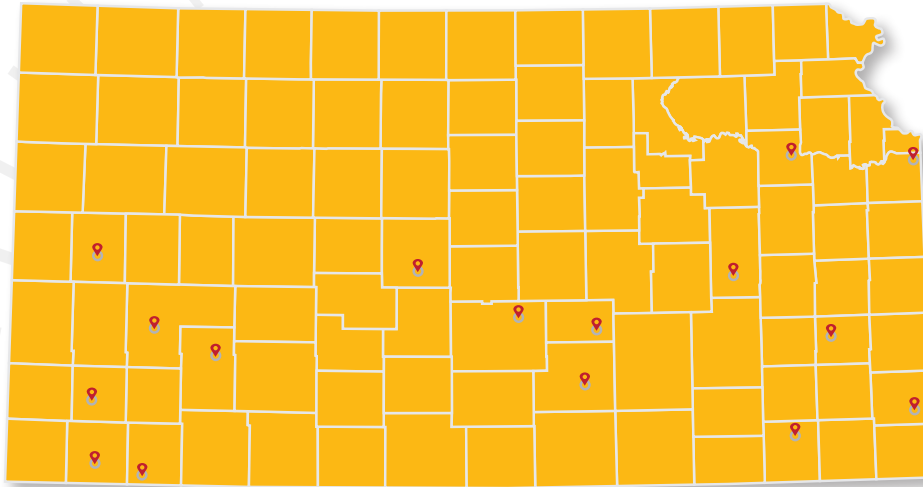

These five factors are what guide KCSL's work with every family in every interaction. Thank you for helping KCSL create opportunities that ensure a stronger, more resilient and educated society for Kansas.

Sincerely,

Dail Cozad

OUT OF THE DARKEST MOMENT, THERE'S HOPE

Watch Ann tell her story at kcsl.org/anns-story.

Ann found out she was pregnant during her sophomore year of college. She gave birth to a healthy baby boy she named Bryant, but things quickly changed while breastfeeding. He wasn't gaining weight. Unrecognized as having a lactation insufficiency, Ann lost custody of her infant son to foster care. She was devastated. It seemed there was no one who believed in her or could help her...until she connected with KCSL.

For families like Ann who need help, there is hope. When Ann needed support and encouragement, KCSL provided the help she and her son needed during a difficult time. She received the resources and guidance necessary to reclaim her motherhood. KCSL helped Ann become a better, more confident mom fully capable of giving Bryant a loving and safe home. Every situation is unique, and we meet families where they are in life. The positive changes set a new course for Ann's family now and has prepared them for a healthier and brighter future.

OUR YEAR IN NUMBERS

5,989,000

KCSL's Facebook page reached a total of 5,989,000 unique people, a 163% increase from previous year!

31

We had 31 employees celebrate significant milestones with 5, 10, 15 and 20-year anniversaries!

A CHANCE FOR HOPE, CHANGE AND REDEMPTION

Watch Jessica tell her story at kcsl.org/jessicas-story.

Jessica's battle with drug addiction began at a young age. She had a long history of substance use of cocaine and heroin starting when she was 17 years old. Relapsing became a common occurrence. While pregnant with her second son Samuel, Jessica felt hopeless. She stayed sober for the first 6 months of the pregnancy before relapsing. One of the hardest things Jessica had to face was admitting she was using while pregnant. It seemed there was no one who believed in her or could help her, but Jessica knew she needed help. So, she turned to KCSL.

KCSL gave Jessica the resources to help her and her children get to a better place in their life. She accepted the support she needed to become the confident, better mom that she knew she could be. KCSL built on Jessica's strengths and provided opportunities for hope, change and redemption. When Jessica needed reassurance that she was on the right track, KCSL was there to provide the tools needed to strengthen her family.
